June 21 - Gary R. Cott, M.D., Executive Vice President, Medical and Clinical Services, National Jewish Health

Gary R. Cott, board-certified in internal medicine and pulmonary disease, was appointed Executive Vice President of Medical and Clinical Services at National Jewish Health in September 1996. Gary joined National Jewish Health in 1984 where he has served as Clinical Director of the Department of Medicine and as Co-Director of the Adult Special Care Unit. He is also Associate Professor of Medicine, University of Colorado, Denver.

In his dual roles as a staff physician and Executive Vice President, Gary treats patients, oversees various clinical services and operations, and participates in the development and refinement of the clinical program. National Jewish Health, a leading US respiratory hospital, treats patients from all over the country and conducts innovative and groundbreaking research to improve health worldwide.

Gary earned his medical degree from the University of Kansas in 1977, where he also earned bachelor's and master's degrees in electrical engineering. He completed his internship and residency in internal medicine at the University of Kansas Medical Center and a fellowship in pulmonology at the University of Colorado.
